BRACE IS RIGHT FOR YOU.

LOW BACK PAIN

Around the site of an injury or strain, back muscles naturally tighten to prevent further damage. These overworked muscles can lead to muscle spasm and pain. Coretech™ lower spine braces are designed to increase trunk stability to help these tightened and fatigued muscles relax.

NECK PAIN, CERVICOGENIC HEADACHES, FORWARD HEAD CARRIAGE (“TEXT NECK”)

Reading, computer work and cell phone use often contribute to poor neck posture, causing neck muscles and supporting structures to overwork. Coretech™-180 Cervical Brace was designed to be worn in the comfort of home to help promote improved posture and a more natural alignment.

PAIN ASSOCIATED WITH ADULT SCOLIOSIS

Coretech™-626 Lumbar Brace is the first brace specifically designed for Adult Scoliosis patients. Acting as an unloader brace, it helps restore a more natural center of gravity.

Improving posture has been shown to enhance mobility and ultimately increase the ability to perform activities of daily living.

CORETECH™ ARE CLINICALLY TESTED AS A TREATMENT OPTION

Spinal braces are prescribed as a crucial component of treatment, helping patients to rehabilitate and achieve optimal outcomes. Designed with patients in mind, Coretech™ braces:

- Offer a conservative, easy-to-use treatment option
- Promote a controlled environment for healing
- Help restore activities of daily living

ABOUT US CORETECH™

Founded as a specialty orthotics company, Coretech™ built its reputation on a foundation of customer service that goes beyond just one sale. In recent years, it has evolved from a product business to a complete solutions provider that leverages business requirements and seeks solutions with the help of industry and technology leaders.

This approach addresses issues affecting orthopedic customers, helping to offset falling reimbursement, reduce costs and improve patient satisfaction.

Coretech™ works with its customers to design customized programs that fit each specific need, rather than trying to fit customers into pre-established product offerings.

Coretech's ultimate goal is to create simple solutions that give valuable time back to providers and patients so they can focus on what matters most, their recovery and healthcare.
